The 1980 city hudget includes $3,000 for the Carhondale Public Library.
However, it is October and the library had not received yet received its budgeted funds when its board wrote a letter to the city, requesting the payment.
City council at its last regular meeting heard that request and asked the administration to speed along the payment.
At the meeting, city managing director Martin P. Judge noted he spoke with Auhrey Staple of the library board and promised a portion of the funds.
Last week Judge told the Carhondale will be carbondale with the loan request objously turned down without a vote at the meeting, the Carhondale will be carbondale with what we have at the end of the year.

Judge replied, "Make do with what we have at the end of the year."

The city wouldn't be along the city's financial handling irresponsible and wasteful.
With the loan request obviously turned down without a vote at the meeting, the Carhondale will be administration would do without the loan.
Judge replied, "Make do with what we have at the end of the year."
This year, Judge feels, the city did not get the city a price.
Should the city choose to get cinders from Baumann, Judge told the Mirror, that the city would start hauling the city shall storage area.
This is not the first time that the city received no bids on cinders.
